

RECRUITING ALL WORKING STUDENTS

PARTICIPATE IN

ACADEMIC LABOR RESEARCH.

AN INTERACTIVE ONLINE SPACE.

A FEATURE DOCUMENTARY.

IT IS TIME
TO START HEARING
YOUR SIDE OF THE STORY.

SHARE YOUR STORY

We invite you to share your story and reflect on how your current academic, social, and financial responsibilities and expectations have influenced how much or how little you work, and under what conditions and wages you do so. By exploring the reasons students work and the effects these reasons have on the undergraduate experience, we hope to reveal the different factors that have contributed to the indebted, underpaid, and overworked, yet often ignored and maligned status of Millennial college students.

PARTICIPATION

You will fill out an information sheet and do a videotaped interview that can be made public online and possibly used in a documentary film. You will have the option to choose whether your interviews, info sheet data, or any parts of them are used publicly. We are willing to capture your experience through other means or anonymously if you prefer, what matters is your story.
